An Andover Item . . . Scores A Record . . . And A Trophy Case . . .

Andover touched another record last weekend, not as a town, but for one of its products.

Bobby Orr, number four of the Boston Bruins and the Golden Boy of the National Hockey League set a new record in that league by becoming the first defenseman in history to score over 100 points.

Two goals and two assists by Orr in a 5-5 tie with the Detroit Red Wings, brought his point total to 101 points. He is only the fourth player to exceed the 100 point mark and the first defenseman ever to score as many points as he has to date.

The puck which broke the 100 mark was presented to him during a ten-minute standing ovation at Boston Garden. He said it will be put in with his trophies at his home in Parry Sound, Ontario.

Where's the Andover connection? Well Tyer Rubber Division of Converse Rubber Co., has manufactured the pucks for the National Hockey league for years.

Thus Andover gets another prominent address.

PA NATURAL HISTORY CLUB amateur ecologists Jameson French, left, and Charles Reding, seated on the logs of a dead PA elm tree, say PA has taken a constructive step toward making the elm care program safer for people and elms this spring.

Academy Drops Insecticide

Natural History Club members have influenced Phillips Academy to ban Sevin (Carbaryl) from its elm-spraying program this year because of its possible harmful effects on human and animal life.

The academy will continue the methoxychlor spray against Dutch Elm disease, but will drop one of the Sevin sprayings against leaf-eating insects altogether, and switch to dilute methoxychlor for the other.

According to PA administrative dean Fred Stott, greater budget emphasis will be placed on positive tree care, to preserve the elms that canopy over the Phillips campus. The policy will be reviewed yearly.

PA's decision to stop using Sevin came at a meeting last week after Natural History Club members Charles Reding and Jameson French, Highland Road, submitted the report of a federal commission on pesticides and enviromental health, December 1969, which implicated Sevin in teratology -- the causing of congenital malformations -- in some mammals.

Town Tree Department head Philip Busby attended the decision-making meeting at PA, chaired by Stott. It turned out to be an extraordinary information exchange between a variety of concerned people -- students concerned about the effectiveness and safety of the elm program, tree service officials, administrators, PA grounds foreman, an Audubon Society representative, a doctor, and MASS entomologist, Dr. Clifford Chater, as scientific referee and advisor.

Busby effected one of the surprises of the meeting when he mentioned Andover's tree planting program. Andover is replacing dead elms with -- of all things -- elms!

Tree experts pointed out that no communities were planting elms now, and none of them knew the Christine Buisman Elm, developed in Holland; but Busby said that among its new trees, Andover has North Andover may be purchasing water from Andover after the town completes construction of a water treatment plant.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin informed the selectmen Monday night that the suburban town would be interested in making an agreement with the town, once Andover establishes an adequate supply.

The manager was given authorization to proceed with the filing of requests for federal assistance for the proposed $4,000,000 water treatment plant Monday night by the board.

The plant, needed by the town by 1972, would take water from the Merrimack river, treat it, then place it in Haggett's pond, Andover's main reservoir.

The project was approved at the annual town meeting, provided $1,500,000 in federal funds can be obtained.

Austin and Water-Sewer Supt. Donald C. Bassett met with members of the North Andover Board of Public Works earlier this month and discussed the plant and the suburban officials expressed an interest in purchasing water from Andover to meet expanding needs there.

The town recently installed a well to augment its main water supply, Lake Cochichewick.

North Andover officials feel there will be need for additional supply to meet demand by 1975 and that Andover could be the answer.

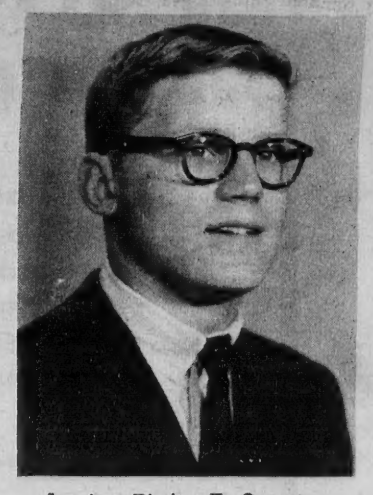

A tie-in could be made at the town's juncture near Merrimack college.

Supt. of Public Works William B. Duffy notified the Central Merrimack Valley Regional Planning Board by letter on March 6, that "in view of expanding demands on our existing water supply for industrial and domestic use, we will very likely need an additional supply of water by 1975.

Austin Monday night said it would appear, following the meeting with

West Behind Schedule, Central Plans Needed

Construction at the West Elementary School addition is far behind schedule, and waiting until October special town meeting to get money for working plans for the Central School addition will cost the town more than 1% a month, in the intervening months, in building costs: these are the messages Professor James St. Germain brought to the school committee Tuesday night.

St. Germain said that the West addition's roof was up, but the continuing delay in getting heating installed meant that it would be May 1 before they could predict whether the school would be ready for occupancy in September.

The building, by Frank Crimp, under general contractor D. Guschov of Boston, was scheduled for a June completion, their margin of error has been used up.

The building committee has instituted "needle meetings" of architects, contractor and even sub-contractors, to "establish a quasi-critical path and push things," according to St. Germain. Assistant Superintendent Vaughn Clapp reported the contractors' comment that "we never had such supervision from a building committee as on this job, and it has helped." Nevertheless the addition, for which a full 500 days was alotted, continues far behind schedule.

Resolution Pays Tribute To Allen

The selectmen Monday night unanimously approved a resolution expressing appreciation to former Selectman Philip K. Allen for his years of service to the board.

The resolution was presented by Selectman Roger W. Collins and seconded by Selectman George Heseltine.

Mr. Allen did not seek re-election at the expiration of his term this year.

The resolution reads, "Be it resolved that the board of selectmen thank Philip K. Allen for his 11 years of outstanding service to the town as a selectman. His efforts and achievements were never for personal gain, but rather for what he thought was best for Andover. His endeavors on this board will be greatly missed and his love for Andover and its people will never by forgotten.

"He is truly a select man."

The Labor Department is providing valuable assistance in helping returning veterans switch from military to civilian occupations. From October 1967 to October 1969, 52,500 veterans have participated in apprenticeship programs. As of October 15, 1969, 47,750 of them were still enrolled as apprentices -- 29,388 in the building and construction trades, 17,019 in the metal-working trades, and 1,343 in the service trades.

Annual Session Climaxed

The annual town meeting was concluded last Wednesday night when slightly over 400 voters acted on the final items in the warrant.

The session had been adjourned from the previous Saturday when a quorum was questioned after action was taken on 46 articles.

Heaviest debate came on an article which asked the town to approve a swapping of land off Greenwood Road for George J. Chongris who plans to develop four lots.

A majority vote ruled in favor of the transfer, but Moderator Arthur Williams turned the matter over to Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien to determine legal points and also whether a two-thirds vote was necessary, rather than just a majority.

Another controversial article, was acceptance of Whispering Pines Drive.

John Doyle of Reservation Road, whose property abuts the street, said that Whispering Pines Drive, was "botched job," and should not be accepted.

Selectman Sidney P. White, whose development includes Whispering Pines, contended that he had altered the plans to meet Doyle's requests.

The meeting by a majority vote rejected the acceptance of the street.

Dogs also featured this year's town meeting, as they have for the past three sessions.

Added to the animal control law, with regard to restraining of canines, a new regulation will go into effect in September, during school days.

The new law stipulates that dogs must be restrained between the hours of 7 to 8:30 a.m.; 11:30 to 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 to 4 p.m., the hours children would be going to and from school.

The regulation is effective from Labor Day through June 30.

It was passed on a vote of 181 to 142.

Former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen addressed the session and asked the town to examine its future, noting the town meeting had just spent the largest amount of money in its history.

He asked that town board and committees work together to plan town goals.

Dr. Albert J. Greenberg advised the meeting that since appointment of Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, this past year, there had been tremendous co-operative effort between the two administrators.

Rev. John S. Moses, rector of Christ church and Gordon M. Thompson tied for school committee in the 1943 town election. A recount was held and it was found that Rev. Moses won by 11 votes.

Upward Bound Program To Be Conducted At College

Although Washington said "no" to a Greater Lawrence Upward Bound program, Merrimack College has found a method to provide summer educational opportunities for Greater Lawrence secondary school students.

With the refusal of federal funds for a Greater Lawrence project, Merrimack College president, Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A. appointed Rev. John A. Coughlan, O.S.A., vice president, Col. Earl V. Brown, director of government relations and research, and Professor Yvonne Ground to investigate further the possibilities of developing an educational program to serve the Greater Lawrence area. The result: 20 Greater Lawrence secondary school students will be invited to participate in an Upward Bound program this summer at Merrimack College. This opportunity for Greater Lawrence students was realized when Merrimack College agreed to serve as host college for an Upward Bound program conducted by the city of Chelsea. Some 75 students from Chelsea will also come to the North Andover campus to participate in the seven week summer program.

Though this year's Upward Bound program principally involves the city of Chelsea, an Upward Bound program for the Greater Lawrence area originated in 1965. At that time, representatives of Merrimack College conferred with Atty. J. Nicholas Sullivan and Charles LoPiano of the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council, Inc. to formulate an Upward Bound Program tailored to meet the specific needs of the Greater Lawrence area. In March, 1968, Merrimack College and the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council entered into formal agreement to initiate an Upward Bound proposal and by December, 1968, an Upward Bound proposal was submitted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. However, the Greater Lawrence Upward Bound proposal for a summer, 1969 program at Merrimack College was denied by H.E.W. because of general cutback in federal funding.

The purpose of Upward Bound is to develop the academic skills of students, and above all, to develop their desire to continue education and realize their potential in a better future. Essentially, Upward Bound revolves around an intensive residence program in the summer at a college with continuing contact and aid for the secondary school student through his school year in his high school. The seven week Summer Residence Program at Merrimack College which extends from June 29 through August 14 involves a full time academic program coordinated with many social and athletic activities. Areas of academic concentration will include English, mathematics, science, remedial reading, and an "Arts Workshop" while the non-academic activities will feature such cultural events as a "Boston Pops" Concert and field trips to Harold Parker State Forest. The teaching faculty will be drawn primarily from Merrimack College and secondary schools in the surrounding communities. The faculty will also be assisted by ten college students who will serve as tutor counselors in residence.

Following the Summer Residence Program, the faculty and tutor counselors will continue working with the Upward Bound students in an ongoing program throughout the school year in the student's own high school.

Professor Ground relates that Merrimack College will continue to work with Atty. Sullivan and Mr. LoPiano of the Community Action Council of Greater Lawrence in recruiting students from the Greater Lawrence area. Professor Ground stated "that students will be selected on the basis of promise, not of performance. If in the observation and intuitive judgment of qualified people he has potential, he will definitely be placed on the list for interviews and screening. The screening process will involve, in addition to personal conferences with the prospective students, the services of staff psychologists of Merrimack College in testing and evaluating individual potential as well as the reports and recommendations of the high school faculty and guidance personnel and a complete physical examination."

Brown Sets Squash Record

Sophomore Paul Brown of Andover recently completed an outstanding season with the Harvard varsity squash team, which won its third straight national intercollegiate team championship and ninth crown in the last 10 years.

Playing in the number seven position, Paul posted a 9-1 dual meet record in his first year of varsity competition.

The Crimson was 10-0 on the season, winning its 10th Ivy League championship. Harvard's all-time record against Ivy opponents is a spectacular 65-5 mark.

Paul is a 1968 graduate of Phillips Academy.

In 1905 the Boston Museum of Fine Arts joined Harvard University in a 40-year Egyptian expedition that brought to the Museum the finest collection of Old Kingdom sculpture outside of Cairo.

a number of 15 year old Christine Buisman elms, fairly resistant to the elm leaf beetle, and not one has caught the Dutch Elm disease. Where are they? On several streets, but mostly on Elm Street. "We just couldn't see an Elm Street without elms."

Students at the meeting were interested, since the Natural History Club has begun a Tree Fund, named in honor of Andover native and PA biology teacher George Sanborn. The club has raised over $500 from the faculty alone, and it seems likely that some of the Sanborn Fund will buy Christine Buisman elms.

PA's discontinuance of Sevin has town repercussions, since Andover and many other towns have used Sevin, particularly since DDT was banned for public safety reasons. Andover stopped using DDT seven years ago.

The TOWNSMAN obtained a copy of the federal commission report for Busby, who is checking its findings and conclusions with scientists at a conference sponsored by the Massachusetts Tree Wardens' and Foresters' Association he is now attending.

In another article in this issue, Busby warns Andover citizens on how to dispose of any DDT, or other pesticide they may have at home which the Massachusetts Pesticide Board has now banned for outdoor use. These pesticides must not be thrown away, go to the dump, go down the drain, or be burned at home, since all of these methods will cause dangerous long-lasting polluting effects.

The Tree Department, and stations in Harold Parker Forest, will accept the banned pesticides for safe disposal, provided the homeowner telephones first, and delivers them sealed in plastic or tins.

Tree Warden Philip Busby advises:

Recently we have received a number of inquiries regarding the safe disposal of certain pesticides which are banned in Massachusetts for out of door use. The restriction on use of these pesticides was taken by the Mass. Pesticide Board. The "hard" pesticides which are curtailed include; DDT, DDD, dieldrin, aldrin, endrin, toxaphene and heptaclor.

It is important for citizens to realize that containers of pesticides containing these ingredients must not be taken to the dump, or disposed of by conventional means.

The Dept. of Natural Resources has been designated to act as a collecting agency and 19 State Parks and Forests have agreed to accept unwanted pesticides for disposal by the State. In this area the Harold Parker State Forest in Andover and the Bradley Palmer State Forest in Topsfield will accept pesticides; however it is requested that persons telephone first to allow personnel to be at the designated collection building.

The Tree Dept. in Andover, on Lewis St., will also accept unwanted pesticides which the Dept. of Natural Resources will pick up from them. Any and all pesticides must be contained in carefully sealed boxes or containers and be delivered to the designated places for disposal.

A State wide collection period will go into effect in the spring probably the first two weeks of May at which time it is expected many home gardeners will have discovered all sorts of insecticide packages which they will want to be rid of.

Camp Fire Week Being Observed

Sunday, March 15, began Camp Fire Girl's Birthday Week.

As in the past two years, all the Camp Fire Girls of Andover began this week by worshiping together at one church. This year, they all attended the 11:30 a.m. folk Mass at Merrimack College.

Some of the groups have been busily setting up displays in windows of downtown stores. These displays try to explain a little about Camp Fire Girls, and show some activities and crafts done by the girls during the past year.

At The Library

Gardner Books

The death of Erle Stanley Gardner on March 11 meant the loss of one of the most prolific writers in history. The total number of his published books totaled 140, of which 80 were Perry Mason mysteries. Most library users are familiar with Mr. Gardner as a writer of superb mystery novels, but very few knew that he also wrote a number of good travel books. Memorial Hall Library has three of his non-fiction books, two of them books of his personal adventures in the Baja country of southern California. They are titled Hunting the Desert Whale, published in 1960, a narrative account of hunting, by camera only, the mammoth gray whale, and Hovering over Baja published in 1961, another adventure by means of helicopter and "Pak-Jak" (a super-type motorcycle) in unexplored territory of the peninsula. The third book of non-fiction written by Mr. Gardner that the library owns is "Neighborhood frontiers; desert country, Puget Sound country, Yucatan Peninsula, Yaqui River, barranca country," published in 1954.

Wildlife Week

National Wildlife Week, March 15-21, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and its 49 state affiliates, asks, "See any Wildlife lately?" The library is asking the same of its patrons in its observance of this special week. Each of us in Andover should reflect this week on our nation's vanishing wildlife heritage. Did you know that 89 American wildlife species are on the brink of extinction? Come in and see the displays which are aimed at supporting National Wildlife Week.

Lost And Found

Is your child missing a winter cap, a pair of mittens, maybe a scarf? The Children's Room has a large carton filled with winter garments which have been left behind by the boys and girls. Spring is coming soon so before you forget about the missing articles of warm clothing, come to the library and see if your child has left something here.

Approve Changes

The school committee Tuesday night approved the following extra curricular assignments for the spring term; Richard Bourdelais, assistant high school track, $579; Carmen Iannuccilli, assistant high school track, $579; Howard Tozier, junior varsity baseball, $572; Virginia Tribou, girls' tennis, high school, $538; Edwin Hawkes, boys' tennis, high school, $496; Suzanne Shaw, girls' spring intra-murals, $284; Lowell Canovitch, East Junior High track, $468; Robert Hatem, East Junior High, 7th and 8th grade baseball, $396; Thomas Hopkins. West Junior High, freshman baseball, $468.

The committee also approved a year's leave of absence for one teacher, Eleanor Finnegan, who plans to live in Europe a year, then return to the Andover system. The committee accepted the resignation, as of the end of the school year, of Joyce Britton, who plans to teach in the northwest.

Wins Third Prize In Swim Meet

An Andover girl took third prize in New England YMCA class D swim championship held in Westerly, R. I. on Saturday, March 14.

Carole Belbin of Haggetts Pond Road, representing the Lawrence YMCA swim team, came in third in butterfly in her first year of competition. She was presented with a bronze medal.

Lawrence also placed fourth in the team medley. The meet consisted of girls 10 and under from all over the New England states. One hundred and eighty two girls competed.

On Dean's List

Joseph J. Daly and Beverly Ann Shattuck of Andover, have been named to the dean's list at the University of Maine, Orono, Maine, for the fall semester.

The town marked its 300th anniversary with parades and several observances on the Memorial Day weekend of 1946.

The tax rate in 1943 was $28 and announced as the lowest since 1937.

Pre-School Pupils Held Bake-Off

Co-op pre-school students participated in their second annual school bake-off recently in the kitchen at the Free Christian Church.

Equipped with materials and ingredients from home, each boy and girl had the learning experience of following directions and mixing and baking a batch of cookies. Encouraged by the experience of last year's bake-off, Mrs. Thayer Warshaw, teacher-director, included it in this year's program.

The school places emphasis on a rounded background for each child which covers interest in home activities. Co-op mothers assisting Mrs. Warshaw were: Mrs. John Appleton, Mrs. David Cobb, Mrs. David Goldman, Mrs. Louis Hoitsma, Mrs. Robert Jurgen, Mrs. Robert Lange, Mrs. Frank Nelligan and Mrs. William Wilbur.

Hoop Team Apologizes For Late Start

The Harlem Diplomats, a specialty basketball team which visited Andover High school for a benefit performance for the junior class, has sent along an apology to the class for being tardy for their Feb. 6 appearance.

In a letter of explanation to the class, the business manager of the group explained the reasons for the delay and forwarded a contribution to the class to make up for the delay. The group contributed $50 to the class for "scholarships, or whatever it sees fit."

The letter signed by Beverly Petrozzion, business manager, follows:

"The entire Harlem Diplomats organization would like to once again reiterate its apology to your Junior Class and to all the fans who patiently sat in your high school gym on February 6th, 1970, waiting for the Diplomats to start our game which was scheduled for 8 p.m. The blame for the late start must fall entirely with our organization. As you know, some of the equipment was left behind by our ballplayers and we sent them back for it.

"Although this gesture cannot erase the discomfort suffered by the fans in the gym, or the anxiety yourself and the members of your staff experienced due to our late start, we would, nevertheless, like to present the enclosed check of $50.00 made payable to the order of your Junior Class as a gift from the Harlem Diplomats, Inc. to be used for its scholarship fund, or whatever purpose it sees fit.

"We thoroughly enjoyed our visit to Andover High School and working with the members of your staff."

Eaton Family In NASTAR Program

The NASTAR program at Crotched Mountain was a family affair recently, especially for the Eaton family of 80 Argilla Road. The entire family of five entered the timed run -- two brothers, James, 14, and Greg Eaton, 13, were awarded bronze NASTAR medals for their successful runs at Crotched.

The NASTAR program (National Standard Race) enables recreational skiers to run against the clock and against area "pacesetter" Tim Fletcher to establish their ability in relation to other skiers who enter NASTAR races across the country. Gold, silver or bronze awards are made to competitors who come within certain percentages of the pacesetter's "par" for the giant slalom course.

Crotched Mountain holds NASTAR races, open to all skiers, on Sundays throughout the ski season.

Miss O'Brien In Leading Role

Miss Kathryn O'Brien, resident of Andover, had a leading role in the presentation of "Sleeping Beauty" which was given this week by the Mount Holyoke College Laboratory Theatre.

The production is a musical for children including psychedelic colors, folk-rock rhythms, and multi-media effects. Assistant Professor James Cavanaugh, director of the Laboratory Theatre, has modernized the fairytale by bringing together elements which will speak to children in the language they know. Miss O'Brien will play the part of one of the servants.

Miss O'Brien, a senior at Mount Holyoke, is the daughter of Mrs. Eunice G. O'Brien, 22 Shipman Road.

School Organization Under Study

What organization of age levels into school buildings is most feasible for Andover, educationally and economically?

The present K-6 elementary, with a junior high of grades 7, 8 and 9, and a three year senior high school?

K-4 primary schools, with grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 in middle schools, and a four year high school? How about K-6 elementary, with grades 7-12 grouped in the educational park concept?

There are educational advantages and disadvantages to each, according to Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, and each may present different implications for the rate of construction of new buildings, and the taxpayers pocketbook.

Seifert said any consideration of school housing must start with the assumption of a growing school population . . . in Andover's case, 250 new pupils a year.

The administration is searching for the age-level organization which will best accomplish three things:

(1) Get the educational resources (library, labs, computer and business technology) as close as possible to all of the kids that can benefit from each.

(2) Make the best possible use of the present school facilities and also

(3) organize the growing school population in the way that makes the least possible new building construction demands on the taxpayer.

Each of the pupil-organization plans, including the one in current use, will be questioned before the administration makes its recommendations, Seifert said. He indicated that the findings of the single-site study committee will be used but that the administration cannot wait for this report to begin planning.

Without even getting into the numbers game which the school authorities face, or the new building needs which each may require, here are samples of some educational implications.

The K-4, 4, 4 plan would put 5th and 5th graders with 7th and 8th graders, on the theory that many older elementary schoolers are ready for labs and other resources used in junior high, which are too expensive to install in elementary schools for their benefit. Ninth graders would move up to join in a four year high school complex. K-4 would be a primary grouping.

A variation on this would be a plan to divide the elementary school organization in half, coming up with a 3-3-3-3 grouping, more advanced resources would be installed at the elementary schools which will house grades 4, 5 and 6.

The K-7, 7-12 organization leaves elementary organization as is, concentrating on secondary needs. This plan groups grades 7-12 in an educational park with shared central resources. Traffic control would be counted on to control sociological problems which otherwise might arise with such a concentration of pupils and such an age-range. Under the present K-6, 7-9, 10-12 organization, the senior high and West Junior High needs expansion now, and one plan calls for a core facility between the two buildings.

Even with the updating and expansion of Central School, any organizational plan will require some new building construction, because of the pupils the schools have, and expect.

Decision on the age-level organizational plan for the foreseeable future must precede, and will imply, the extent, location and the type of construction and it's cost.

Seifert indicated that the Central School's updating and expansion plans call for flexibility to fit the organizational plans under consideration for elementary-age pupils.

Seifert promised to keep the public informed about school organizational plans through educational town meeting, the PTA Council, and the press.

Black Man's Servile Role On Display

A reminder of the black man's servile role in early America has just been added to the collection of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, North Andover, according to an announcement by museum director, Thomas W. Leavitt.

Purchased from a collector in Illinois, the item in question has been identified by Museum Curator James C. Hippen as a "plantation cotton-spinning machine" manufactured in Cincinnati, Ohio, shortly before the war between the states.

Designed by the J. & T. Pearce Company to process raw cotton directly into yarn, the machine is capable of ginning, carding and spinning. The yarn which resulted was used to make cheap clothing for black people.

The manufacturer's agents accompanied the machine into the deep South where they showed "the working part of that community" (the slaves) how to make it run. The manufacturer claimed the machine made it possible for one man to do the work of ten. Slave-owners quickly caught on to the economies the machine could effect and more than 2,500 are known to have been sold at $130 each between 1830 and 1845.

The textile museum galleries are open daily between 1 and 5 p.m. The new acquisition is on view in the lobby.

Requests for afterschool use of public school facilities have been welcomed by school committee and the superintendent's office.

School Board, Teachers Sign Pact

Everything was roses when the first teacher contract settled in Greater Lawrence this year was signed Tuesday night between the Andover Education Association and the Andover school committee.

Negotiators from each side praised the gains in confidence and understanding which the negotiating sessions had effected, and Mrs. Virginia Cole stressed the importance of school committees negotiating directly with their teachers, without the "benefit" of professional negotiators.

"These annual discussions of our school system are invaluable, and the result is that we have a contract which is about Andover, about our school system, instead of a model which has been brought from other systems."

Mrs. Cole the school committee's chief negotiator, added: "We should be proud of our teachers. They are a very professional bunch, with an excellent group of negotiators. It has been a pleasure and a privilege to work with them."

She also praised the administrators' representative, Principal Ed Regan, whose presence at all the meetings she called was very important to the gains made.

Mrs. Helen Enman, who led the AEA negotiating team of Douglas Walshe and AEA head Robert Carroll, said the negotiating sessions had brought great gains in confidence between the two sides, and with the administration.

The school committee heard a progress report on the teachers' year-long released-time program of curriculum development by Mrs. Rita Dubrule, chairman of the coordinating committee, and Mrs. Doris Bernardin, who reported on the specific area of language arts.

The meeting also discussed centralization and improvement in booking schools for community use, at Mrs. Virginia Cole's behest. They heard, but await administrative recommendations on, the request of commercial entertainer John O'Neill that the high school allow him to put up posters advertising dances for which he rents high school facilities.

The committee received a letter from the parish council of St. Robert Bellarmine's Church which expressed the parish council's desire to be of service to the schools in informing parents about the curriculum on sex and health education.

Benefit Concert Is Planned

A family concert will be presented by the Harvard Symphony Band sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the Friends of the New England Home for Little Wanderers for the benefit of the children at the home, Sunday afternoon, April 12, at 2:30 at the Memorial Auditorium, East Junior High school.

Mrs. Philip A. Vigeant, ways and means chairman, will be assisted by the following: Mrs. Robert P. Levinson, arrangements; Mrs. Anthony Sakowich, hostesses; Mrs. George W. Mayo and Mrs. Lawrence Farrington, posters; Mrs. Arthur L. Wooten, publicity; Mrs. George L. Cady, III and Mrs. Vigeant, tickets.

Tickets are available now at $1.50 each from any board member or by calling 475-2057.

West Parish Title Bound

By Rick Harrison

West Parish A clinched at least a tie for its second Junior Division title within three years in the Andover Church Basketball League, during West Parish B by a 26-5 score in action Monday night at the East Junior High gym.

The triumph lifted West A's perfect record to 11-0, while West B slipped to 9-2. Meanwhile, St. Augustine B remained in contention for the title with a come-from behind 12-8 win over South Church.

St. Augustine B, which dropped a 25-14 verdict to West A in the biggest game of the year last week, now stands at 10-1. South skidded down to 9-2 overall.

With one week of action left, West A needs only to beat St. Robert's A next Monday night to clinch the crown.

The West A - West B showdown this week was close for one period. The teams were tied 5-5 after the opening quarter. But West B failed to score thereafter, while West A poured in 21 points. The triumph for West A was the 38th in the past 39 league games, and the 42nd in the last 43 games including league and non-league competition.

Division scoring king Bill Alexander again led the way with 10 points. Mark deConstant added 7 points, Labeeb Abboud popped in 5 points, and Dave Bronson and Tim Brownlie each stuffed 2 points.

Mark Conlon, Doug Spencer and Darel Myers sparked the winners' defense.

For scrappy West B, Freddie Rau and Dave Bradner both had 2 points, while Mark Ketzler also swished a first quarter free throw. Other West B sparkplugs included Pete Newton, Mike Syiek, Gene Harris and Andy Campbell.

The loss of high-scoring Paul Maguire for the fourth period hurt South in its 12-8 setback to once-beaten St. Augustine B. Both clubs entered the key tilt with identical 9-1 records.

South led 4-0 after one period, and then it was tied 6-6 at the half and 8-8 after three stanzas. Two clutch buckets by Dave Hajj in the last quarter gave St. Augustine B the victory.

Hajj topped all scorers by dunking 8 points, while Mike McCormick and Bob Hannon fired in 2 points apiece. Mark Moriarty and Buzz Bayliss also played well for the winners.

Bob Jenkins banked in 6 points and Paul Maguire had 2 markers for South, while other sparkplugs were Bill Schlott and Mark Howe.

St. Robert's A upped its fine record to 8-3 with a 10-3 decision over St. Augustine A. John Weitz canned 4 points for the winners, while John Carroll and John Bohl added 3 points apiece. Larry Weitz, Connie Martin and Jim McLaughlin also paced St. Robert's A.

For St. Augustine A, which trailed 9-1 at the half, Mark Diiorio had 2 points and Joe Fox hooped a charity toss. Dave Farrell and Dave Earley also starred.

Brian White gunned in 10 points, and Kenney LaFleur added 4 markers, to spark Baptist Church to a 14-5 conquest of St. Robert's B. Rick and Ed Collins, Wayne Birch and Lance Rand also spearheaded the winners, who snapped a three game losing streak and evened their record at 6-6.

Brent Goldstein scooped in 3 points and Billy McGuire had 2 points for the losers. Other stars were Glen Sutherland and Scotty Goldstein.

Christ Church shaded West Parish C by a 5-2 count. Three final period points by Bill Gougher turned the trick, while Bruce Wilton added 2 points for the winners. Rich Caughey and Gary Tipaldi also led the Christ Church charge.

Dave Yagmoorian fired home the lone bucket for West C, while defensive sparkplugs were Dave Alexander, Jeff and Joel Smith, Barry McQuade, Tim Rodden and Brian Bronson.

The final Junior match saw Dave Fleming pour in all 10 points to guide St. Augustine C to a 10-3 victory over Unitarian. Other standouts for the winners included Mike O'Brien, Shawn Reming and Dave Pearson.

Dave Need collected all 3 points for Unitarian in the final period, while Mitch Sawaya, Tom DeRosa, Will Washburn, Todd Lander and Matt Russell also starred.

In the division scoring chase, Bill Alexander is way ahead with 130 points. A battle is on for second place, as Brian White has 71 points, Labeeb Abboud has 70 and Paul Maguire has 69 markers. Dave Bronson and Mark deConstant both have 57 points, John Bohl has 54, and Bob Hannon has 53 points to round out the list of boys with 50 or more.

The key battles in the final round will be West A (11-0) facing St. Robert's A (8-3) and West B (9-2) tangling with South (9-2).

Following next Monday night's games, the Junior Division coaches will meet the Intermediate Division coaches in a special game. Banquet ticket money must also be returned next Monday, as tickets will not be sold at the door this year.

March 30 will be the annual shooting contest, which will start at 6:15 p.m. This will be followed by the Junior and Intermediate Division All-Star games.

The league wraps up activities on Monday, April 6, with the banquet and awards program at the East Junior High cafeteria and auditorium.

Hockey Teams Hold Playoffs

Final standings: Black Hawks 5-1, Canadians 3-3, Blues 2-4, Bruins 2-4.

For the past two months the Andover YMCA has been conducting on Wednesday afternoons a Gym Hockey League for sixth and seventh grade boys of St. Augustine's School. Thirty boys have been competing in the four teams with the Black Hawks capturing the individual awards with a team record of 5 victories against 1 defeat.

This week on Wednesday a Shaughnessy type play-off was scheduled to start with the Black Hawks playing the third place Blues and the second place Canadians meeting the fourth place Bruins.

The winners will meet next Wednesday, March 18, as will also the losing teams, these games winding up the season. YMCA Physical Director Walter J. Kimball supervised the League program.

Church Hoop Leaders Top Lowell

The West Parish A basketball team, currently leading the Andover Church Basketball League's Junior Division with a perfect 11-0 record, ventured into non-league play for the second time this season recently.

West A, comprised of boys 9-11 years old, played a squad of Lowell YMCA All-Stars, most of whom were 12 years old.

The West A quintet, which earlier had trounced a similar Lawrence team 38-9, came away with a hard-earned 33-30 victory at Lowell.

It was the 16th consecutive win for the team, and its 42nd win in the past 43 games, including league and non-league competition.

Glenn Verrette was a big sparkplug for the winners, pouring in 16 points on some unbelieveable shots before fouling out late in the third period.

Bill Alexander, averaging close to 13 points per game this year, dunked 10 points before he also fouled out midway through the final quarter.

Labeeb Abboud came through with five clutch points, all in the last quarter, and Dave Bronson also swished a key bucket at the end.

In addition to Glenn Verrette and Bill Alexander, who also had numerous steals, rebounds and assists, other West A sparkplugs were Mark Conlon, Mark deConstant, Tim Brownlie, Doug Spencer and Darel Myers.

West A led 8-5 after one period and 21-12 at the half. Lowell closed to within 26-19 after three stanzas, and held an 11-7 scoring margin in the final canto. However, in spite of enjoying a 24-11 edge in free throw attempts, the Lowell ourfit was unable to catch up.

Steve Callahan sparked the Lowell All-Stars with 16 points, while Art Fosse and Tim Clemin had 4 points apiece, Bob Busby had 3 points, Ron Farrell dunked 2 markers and Phil Walsh had a charity toss.

A bill of sale is a written agreement by which one transfers to another, for a consideration on delivery, all his right, title, and interest in personal property.

An installment purchase contract differs from a bill of sale. It empowers the mortgage holder to take the goods at any time the contractual agreement is violated. This is the usual form used in buying household equipment on the time-payment plan.

Sir only part of the purchase price has been paid, the seller is charging interest on the balance. It is wise to study the fine print and determine exactly what the interest will be.

Editorial Comment

Town Meeting

Andover's annual town meeting is over for another year – even though we are sure that special town meetings will be convened possibly two or three more times.

But we see a need for a study of the town meeting system.

Former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen, at the adjourned session last Wednesday night, asked for a committee to determine "where we are going."

He had commented on the town spending the most amount of money in its history.

He was right, and much of it was built up during his administration and much will continue to build under other administrations.

Of this, there is little doubt, since a growing community will continue to face financial problems.

But we would like to see some study of the town meeting system, and we are sure to be criticized for attacking the Democratic process.

Well, we are acceptable to criticism, but some points should be considered.

Town meeting becomes a stage for emotionalism, for the swapping of a vote for my issue and I'll vote for yours.

We question whether it is truly Democracy in action, when, like at the first session, a total of 660 voters out of a possible 11,000 plus showed up, voted for what they desired then left, leaving the meeting without a quorum.

The town meeting, contrary to what many New Englanders think, is not basically a tradition of this area.

Historically, such a system began in Poland centuries ago, when small villages met once a year to decide on issues.

Apparently the founders of our country carried through their thoughts and introduced such a system at a time when the people of the community met once a year, elected officers, transacted business, had a bean supper and concluded the annual affair in one day.

This no longer is possible, since growth, finances, issues, all dictate that something else is necessary.

A representative town meeting?

Thousands shudder at the thought.

But there really should be a study to determine the effectiveness of what we now know of the operation of municipal government, as far as town meeting goes.

As much as we dislike study committees, consultants, etc. – we do subscribe to a theory which was expounded once by someone that a camel was designed by a committee – probably the time has come to fully evaluate the town meeting system.

Rising tax rates, budgets approaching $12,000,000, growth problems – all indicate that something must be done to properly set a course for Andover's future.

Town meeting, as we know it, does not seem to be the proper answer.

Drugs

One might presume that we, editorially, keep harping on the issue of drug abuse, but, it apparently, is a subject which must be driven home, more and more.

Last week, a young man lost his life through heroin in Needham.

His parents told the story in the press of how they had tried to cure the boy, yet all efforts failed.

A Boston newspaper last Saturday noted that there had been 38 deaths this past year, due to drugs, all fatally inflicted, being teen-agers.

Yet, with all the danger signals, there still seems to be an "ostrich-like" attitude here in Andover, toward drug problems.

We hesitate, a moment, then think a bit, to threaten the warning of "we told you so."

These things can happen here.

Drug raids made by local police within the past few weeks have been shocking, not just the million-dollar hashish raid, but the others in parking lots, in the center of town and others.

We are living in a time when awareness is most important.

Parents should take considerable concern to examine their youngsters habits, their friends, their whereabouts.

One should become more than just partially aware of the dangers of the various forms of drugs available to the youths of the community, and the possible effects.

Aid is now available to assist the drug user.

The problem is amplifying, rather than diminishing.

Could the headlines of next week's papers portray the story of an Andover youth fatally stricken?

It is possible.

Think about it.

Then take some affirmative action.

The hour grows late.

Fine Effort

A recent concert given by the young people of the community paid tribute to retiring School Committeeman William A. Doherty.

That the tribute was paid to Mr. Doherty was an exemplary move on the part of the music department of the public schools, since Mr. Doherty has been interested in the further fulfillment of the musical skills during his tenure on the committee.

But we commend the young people for their performance.

The concert represented considerable work on their part. Constant practice, rehearsal and the blending of the musical talents, resulted in a most enjoyable evening.

It is a tribute to the young people, for as we have mentioned previously, too often we tend to give the headlines to the younger who abuse, or disobey laws, yet seldom have the time to commend those who work toward particular goals.

To the music department and the young musicians, our whole-hearted commendation.

Off The Top Of The Desk

There is all sorts of talk about current interest rates, constantly going up, like everything else.

With that in mind it seemed rather strange that passing the framed issue of the first Andover TOWNSMAN, of Oct. 12, 1887, that a front page advertisement from a bank offered guaranteed home mortgages at a rate of seven per cent.

Nothing new under the sun, as they say.

Seems as years go by we have our ups and downs in all phases of life.

A year ago Town Manager Richard J. Bowen advised the annual town meeting that it was facing a possible $16 tax rate increase over a two year period.

As we examine that predication, with this year's session behind us, we find that the former administrator's prediction is not only true but possibly a dollar short.

The increase, as forecast by FinCom Chairman Albert J. Greenberg is for $8 this year, making the two-year total $17 and a 1970 tax rate of $47 per thousand dollars of full valuation.

We comment from time to time on patriotism, since we live in times when certain doubts cross our minds.

It seems particularly impressive at the opening of National Hockey league games, to see the fans rising in chorus to the singing of the National Anthem.

Likewise, it is wonderful to see the players themselves, the majority being of Canadian extraction, paying particular tribute to America's National Emblem during the pre-game ceremonies.

Particularly noteworthy, we think.

We are advised that a public school book club, to which hundreds of youngsters subscribe, recently offered the "Peanuts Cook Book."

The popular comic strip character's list of delicacies rapidly became a best seller.

This week, however, it was reported that one of the recipes should be disregarded, namely "Lucy's Lemon Lollipops." since the prescribed ingredients contain items which could quite easily sicken a youngster.

Poor Charlie Brown sure does have his problems.

A Colorado Congressman is more than a little upset over a loan granted to a Denver, Colo., concern by the Small Business Administration.

Seems the SBA, which grants loans to small businesses in order to assist them in their starting or improvement operations, lent a not too small sum of money to an organization designated as "The Body Shop."

As it turned out, upon the congressman's investigation, the business was not an automobile repair business, but a topless waitress emporiam.

The congressman contended that the federal government would hardly be getting as much principal in return as it would interest.

From Mass. Division of Fisheries and Game, comes word that the Russians have picked up a tagged fish which had been released in a river in Holyoke.

A tagged Shad was retrieved by a Russian trawler, presumably somewhere off the shores of the Atlantic. It was returned, tag and all, to Murmansk, Russia, where authorities forwarded the tag, and all pertinent information.

The fish was roughly 19 inches in length, was released May 20, 1969, at the Holyoke Power Dam on the Connecticut river. The shad was captured Aug. 20, 1969.

The New England Spring Garden and Flower show, currently underway at Suffolk Downs, has a rather unusual feature.

George J. Jung of Wakefield, is on hand at the show as an expert on roses.

This is really not unusual on the surface, until one considers his ancestry. He is a native of Holland, more noted for tulips than roses.

The incidence of measles locally, has certainly dropped since the inception of preventive vaccine.

A report by the state Department of Health, notes that in 1965, there were 207 reportable cases of measles in Andover.

The count dwindled to 10 in 1966 and three in 1967.

There have been no reported cases for the past two years.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

Concerning your comment which asked why no Andover men were interested in the security of a career as a policeman, I think I can explain why.

You say that the salary for a policeman is appropriate for the position. I think the key to the whole problem lies here.

In my opinion, many more young men would go into the field of police work if it could offer a better income. I think now, that policemen are underpaid for the service they perform for the community.

Certainly you can see that a policeman dedicates his life to protecting merchants, aiding citizens, and helping those in emergency situations. I think that this service deserves more money than what the average Andover police officer receives now.

You also say that Andover men would be best qualified to perform police duties in their own home town.

If a young man starts out as a low paid patrolman while trying to support a wife and two or three children, you can almost expect him to be unable to live in this town.

It seems that in the future the people who work here will not make enough money to live here.

ticed but it made no impact whatever. The reason being voters are capable of breathing cool air. May we keep it cool at our next town meeting.

At this writing I wish to publicly commend out general government, namely -- Town Moderator, Board of Selectmen, Town Manager plus the following: Finance Committee, School Committee, Planning Board, Conservation Committee, for their sincere dedication in their respective offices. Said offices involves many, many hours spent in many instances. In so doing it enables them to present their findings in a business and intelligent manner to the voters at town meeting.

Let us all back them up with our faith in them for their efforts in our behalf for what is best for our wonderful town.

Many people share my feelings that is the reason for this writing.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

Thank you for publishing my letter on February 26 regarding my feelings about the proposed swimming pool, and thank you for doing likewise on March 5 with that of Margaret Keck, Chairman of the Recreation and Open Space Advisory Committee.

I did not mean to disparage Mrs. Keck's committee or their work. I love the outdoors and open spaces, and I love to swim. But I have suddenly developed a social awareness -- an awareness of the plight of some of "my fellow Americans", black, white, red, and yellow, and I can no longer think purely in terms of myself or of my town. A peaceful little island can not exist forever in a sea of chaos.

Mrs. Keck said that "a wide range of healthful recreational opportunities is perhaps the best way of combating the drug problem" to which I had referred in my letter. My feeling is that these are temporary personal alleviations only -- necessary, yes -- but that they should not let us neglect the fact that they are merely "palliative treatment" and not a "cure for the disease". Young people, I think, are searching as I am for something meaningful, some basic values to grasp on to. Maybe they are looking around as I suddenly am and are saying, "This is a land of opportunity for some but not for all. Why not?"

I am not advocating communism or socialism, because I believe in individual initiative, achievement, and reward. I am very strongly in favor of capitalism with a conscience. No one should be hungry or cold in a land where there are so many with so much.

We need Mrs. Keck's committee but we need other things too -- new values or old values that have real meaning and are not just theoretical -- in order to continue to exist in this rapidly changing world.

I would be very interested in hearing from some of the young people as to their feelings of the role they would like Andover to play. Would they like to see people reach out to help others or are they satisfied to see this town comfortably settled back, resting on it's laurels, and content to strive for "the best" as long as it is within the town limits?

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

The federal government is trying to restrain an increase of about 5% in the annual cost of living. But there is no concerted effort to restrain the cost of local government which is galloping along at an increase of about 20% per year.

The meteoric tax rise is bound to have an effect on the character and mix of Andover's citizens.

Our galloping local taxes will not affect the poor among us any more than the cost of welfare affects the local tax rate. Now that the state handles welfare, the poor have never had it so good.

Our galloping local taxes won't affect the rich who can easily take the 20% annual increases in stride.

But our galloping local taxes are sure to affect the middle class many of whom will find that they can no longer afford to live in this town. If the exodus of the middle class has not yet begun, the exodus is imminent.

Whether by design or not, what we are doing is to make Andover into a rich man's town -- a town in which the rich will ease their civic consciences by providing private charity and public housing for the poor, thus making both these groups happy in their country-club environment.

But neither our affluent nor our indigent citizens show any social concern for what they are doing to the great middle class, which will be sacrificed to the new civic goal of "Nothing but the best for Andover."

That goal has no room for those caught in the middle.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

A short coming of town meetings generally is that little provision is made for encouraging the introduction and discussion of Resolutions. They are vehicles by which town meeting, as a legislative body, informs its elected officials of the policies desired established and promoted.

Analysis indicates that much of the debate in any town meeting concerns a point of policy that is not closely related to the Article being discussed.

A by-law should be considered which allows Resolutions to go into the Warrant and give time for discussion, say not more than 5 minutes for each speaker, and after the meeting has been in progress, say 2 hours. After its consideration, 2 more Articles could be considered and then the next Resolution taken up. The last time a Resolution was considered the proposer was not given time until after all other business was considered. That was manifestly unfair. Resolutions should also be allowed directly from the floor as the meeting develops.

This improvement would also reduce the time now taken by the Articles thus giving more time for policy discussion by way of Resolutions with perhaps town meeting being shorter, more to the point and more interesting and useful to all concerned.

SCHOOLS

St. Germain said that large units, which should have been installed before the floor was laid, were now being brought in and Clapp said this means that portions of retaining walls have to be broken down to get the units in, then repaired afterwards.

As Central School Building chairman, St. Germain stressed the necessity of getting a town meeting appropriation of $80,000 - $85,000 for the working drawings for the renovation-addition in time to get the job out to bid and start work this fall. He said delay until October would cost the town 1%-1 1/4% a month in rising building costs.

"If we wait for an October Town Meeting to get the bids out," said the veteran building committeeman," the snow will fly before the contractor gets started, and we all know what that means. The school won't be ready in time."

The administration verified that two years was the longest time that could be counted on for overflow space for displaced pupils.

St. Germain said the central addition would probably be roughly 40,000 square feet, at roughly $35 a square foot, and the committee hoped to make as few major changes in the present building as possible. He suggested giving the public accounting of the costs of the playstead renovation planned, so they would know how much was spent on the building, and how much on the grounds. Mrs. Virginia Cole stressed the importance of community involvement in planning and use of the Playstead, and St. Germain assured her that the "community use of schools" philosophy had trickled down to the building committee.

A man probably has to be a philosopher to serve on two school building committees. Professor St. Germain wears the chairman's toga on both the West and the Central Building committees, and he tempered his news of West School building delays, and of the rising costs that would attend delay on bidding out the Central addition with philosophizing on the responsibilities and decisions faced by school building committees -- "specialists and generalists, who pay taxes, want to save tax dollars, yet we have to build a good building so they can live with themselves."

The school committee tried to be philosophical too. Freshman School committeeman Frank Hill said he'd want to know "how you arrive at that per square foot price," but the committee respected St. Germain's dictum on responsible building committee decisions: "The immediate answer is the inviting one, but not always the best one."

They only broke up when he assured them that Plato said it "or would have said it" (if he'd been on a building committee in Andover in 1970).

IN VIETNAM. Navy Lieutenant junior grade Donald G. Emmons, son of Dr. and Mrs. William V. Emmons of Locke St., is currently serving a twelve-month tour as the Awards Officer for River Patrol Flotilla Five at River Patrol Force Headquarters in the Mekong Delta of Vietnam. Emmons, 24, who will complete his year's tour in Vietnam in December 1970, is a 1963 graduate of Andover High school and a 1967 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Principal Search Underway

The principal-hunt to fill end of the year vacancies at East Junior High School and Shawsheen School covers 14 states -- as far south as Maryland, and as far west as Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

Assistant Superintendent Vaughn I. Clapp said the principalship openings have been posted in all the Andover schools, and at over 300 college placement offices in 14 states. This is in line with the present administration and school committee policy to expand the recruiting area for Andover's professional school staff needs.

The two openings are created by the impending retirement of Miss Catherine Barrett at Central School, and by administrative transfers which the School Committee has granted to two other principals.

Shawsheen Principal Ed Regan will transfer to succeed Miss Barrett at Central School, a much larger school which now faces updating and expansion. Mrs. Dorothy Partridge, who took an indefinite leave of absence from the East Junior High assistant principalship to serve as principal for three years, was granted an administrative transfer to return to her original post.

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert expressed the hope that administrative reorganization at East Junior High can take advantage of both Mrs. Partridge's interest in being an administrator close to the classroom and her love and talent for teaching. He said the specifics of the new structure would be worked out with Mrs. Partridge and East Junior High assistant principal Jack Hughes, who will combine administrative responsibilities as an assistant principal with administrative duties from the central office.

Mrs. Partridge is to be complimented said Seifert, both for her response to the growing pains of renovation at East Junior High, and her excellent work in shaping the faculty, getting departments to work with other departments in interdisciplinary arrangements. He told the TOWNSMAN he hoped the new EJHS principal would continue this kind of thinking.

Other personnel changes approved by the school committee were the retirement notice of Mrs. Helen Monell, head of the East Junior High Science department, the resignation of Mrs. Leon Somers an English teacher at the same school, who had previously planned a leave for a trip to Japan, and the election of Miss Susan Wolman as fifth grade teacher at Bancroft.

Mrs. Monell notified the committee that she had reached retirement age, and wished to join her husband in his retirement.

Mrs. Somers said that since she would not be teaching next year at East Junior High, she felt it would be to the educational advantage of her pupils and her replacement to resign as of May 1, just before her trip.

Miss Wolman was elected to replace Mrs. Anne Kenney, who is leaving for maternity reasons. Miss Wolman is a Cornell graduate of 1967, who expects to complete her master's program in 1970 from the University of Wisconsin. She has had previous experience in Racine, Wis.

Has Role In College Play

Lowell State College senior Samuel Slarskey, 144 Argilla Road, has been chosen to play the role of Evil Eye Fleagle in "Li'l Abner" to be presented by the Lowell State College chapter of Music Educators National Conference on May 3, 6, and 9.

A smash hit when it appeared on Broadway, "Li'l Abner" was hailed for its amusing dialogue and its lively recreation of Al Capp's comic strip characters. Critics were particularly complimentary towards the rousing music by Gene de Paul and lyrics by Johnny Mercer.

The annual musical is the major undertaking of the MENC chapter on the Lowell campus. Previous productions have played to sell-out audiences and have been widely commended for the professionalism of the presentations.

Valentine Flowers offers a wide range of lovely plants which will make wonderful gifts to be enjoyed at Eastertime and for many months to come. These are all attractively potted for gift-giving and are sure to please that very special person on Easter. They also have a large selection of the traditional Easter lilies in a variety of sizes.

If you prefer a floral arrangement, Valentine's will be happy to make up a spring bouquet of the very freshest flowers in a beautiful mixed assortment or in flowers of your choice. For those corsages for the Easter Parade, Valentine's is featuring orchids in white or lavender plus the exquisite cymbidium orchids which come in white and a multitude of pastel shades including pink, green, yellow and brown.

This is a busy week ahead for florists. Order your Easter flower early and avoid disappointment at the last minute. Deliveries from Valentine Flowers are made two and three times daily to areas in Andover and Greater Lawrence. Valentine is also a dealer for F.T.D., a national wire flower service with 11,000 members. This means that delivery of your order is assured anywhere in the United States or Canada. Simply make your selection from a Floral Selection Guide available in the store or call Valentine's and they will take care of everything.

Stop in any time this week or call Valentine's at 475-2929 and say it with flowers this coming Easter Sunday.

AVIS To Portray Local Pollution Problem, March 24

The Andover Village Improvement Society's free spring film program will zero directly in on the fight against water pollution on Tuesday evening, March 24, at West Junior High school.

The evening will present a free film on water pollution, plus a panel including the man who headed the scientific investigation of Greater Lawrence's own bed of pollution -- the Merrimack River.

AVIS will show the color film, "The River Must Live," which explains how a river becomes polluted, and shows through microphotography how the pollutants make the water unable to support its natural plant and animal life.

Directly afterwards, a panel of men directly concerned with water pollution control in the Greater Lawrence area will answer the audience's questions.

One of the panelists will be Warren Oldaker, chief of the laboratory branch of the Department of the Interior's Federal Water Pollution Control Administration in New England. Oldaker was in charge of the Merrimack River Project, which examined the river thoroughly from its source to the sea, to determine its condition.

Joining him will be Louis Giarusso, newly appointed member of the New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission, and Robert McQuade, project engineer from the consulting engineering firm of Camp Dresser and McKee which prepared the town's master plan. AVIS board member Nathaniel Smith will moderate the panel.

At the close of the program, those who wish can stay for a technical microscope demonstration, using samples of the Merrimack River.

This program and AVIS' April 8 program featuring Charles Roth of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, are designed to accurately illuminate the issue of environmental pollution to interested Greater Lawrence citizens.

An AVIS spokesman put it this way: "If the terms "ecology," "quality environment," and "low sulphur fuels" are familiar, but not completely clear; or if you just want to learn more about the fight against pollution, especially as it affects Greater Lawrence, plan to attend both sessions of the AVIS spring program and come loaded with questions." And "The River Must Live" is a terrific film. "It shows how a polluted river can be brought back to life."

NORTH ANDOVER

the North Andover board, that the need would exist by 1975 and that Andover could hold the answer, if the water treatment plant were in operation.

It is also felt that this need, will further enhance Andover's opportunity of receiving federal funds.

The North Andover need could be supplemented by a tie-in in the Merrimack College area. A few hundred feet of water main would be installed to accomplish the feed to North Andover.

There is at present a tie-in between the two towns, but a larger main would be needed if the agreement were reached. The present line is not large enough for regular use.

It has been used from time to time to assist in meeting needs of the two towns, North Andover, at one time supplying Andover with water during drought periods.

The town manager indicated that at the beginning, North Andover's needs would occur only during peak periods of demand, or in case of dry summer or drought conditions.

Austin said that once North Andover's needs are established and the treatment plant constructed, then financial agreement could be worked out between the North Andover Public Works department and the selectmen.

The town manager is proceeding with the filing of the application with HUD in New York for the federal grant. The treatment plant, as mentioned previously, is needed by 1972 to augment the Andover water supply, with the demand amplifying by that time due to increased industrial and domestic useage locally.

That it can now be pointed out to federal officials, that possibly the design can be implemented to meet a regional need, would appear to aid Andover's case for the need for federal assistance.

The town meeting vote limits the further planning for a treatment plant to the obtaining of the $1,500,000.

Bamford Named To Town Post

Steven Bamford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Bamford, 40 Woodland Road, has been named superintendent of Spring Grove Cemetery.

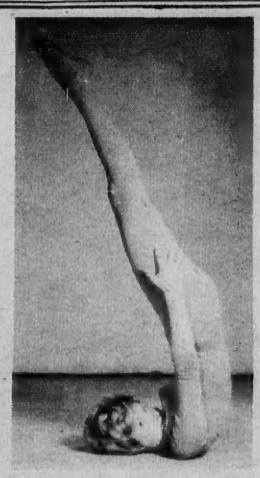

He succeeds Earl Townsend who had served as superintendent for many years prior to his retirement in January of this year.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin made the appointment this week with the approval of the selectmen.

A graduate of Andover schools, Bamford will assume the post in May when he completes studies at the University of Massachusetts at Stockbridge.

Warriors Win, 66-60 In Thriller

Andover High was due to go against Boston English Wednesday night after the TOWNSMAN went to press, in the state basketball tournament in Boston Garden.

The Golden Warriors fought to a 66-60 victory over Springfield Cathedral Tuesday night as Steve Lanier came through with some crucial rebounds and baskets to preserve the victory for Andover.

The Warriors gained a berth in the state tourney through their come-from-nowhere efforts in the Mass. Tech tournament a week ago when they captured the Class C crown.

Facing a tough, determined Western division club in the opening round of the state tourney Tuesday, the Warriors overcame height and early foul trouble to grab the win.

Lanier, in the fourth quarter, was able to grab off several key rebounds as the game ground down to the closing seconds.

During that same time, he dropped in a basket and poured through two foul shots for four vital points, expanding a slim lead to one a little safer as the seconds ticked away.

Shawn Mason also was a heavy contributor to the victory as the clock moved towards the final moments.

For Coach Wil Hixon, he had the vital guns when needed, with his son Dave chipping in 15 points, most of them during the first half, and Co-Capt. Dick Mullc dropping through 18 points, most of them in the second half.

The individual contributions kept Andover in the game from start to finish and victory in the end.

The Warriors were in foul trouble early in the game but managed to keep all regulars in action until the final moments when Co-captain Paul Howe committed his fifth personal with slightly over a minute to play.

Complete accounts of Andover's tourney activities will be carried in next week's TOWNSMAN.
